ABOUT

Who are we?

Ormek is a heritage-driven sock brand built on generations of textile craftsmanship. With over 50 years of family expertise in hosiery manufacturing. Our foundation lies in precision, consistency, and a deep understanding of the craft.

Backed by our in-house production unit, Supreme Hosiery Factory, we bring together legacy knowledge and modern design thinking to create products that are both reliable and refined. With in-house manufacturing of covered elastic yarn and covered spandex yarn, we maintain complete control over stretch, durability, and performance at every stage.

Every pair reflects our commitment to quality, detail, and long-standing industry experience.

At Ormek, we don't just make socks, we continue a legacy of making them well.

What we do?

We design and manufacture thoughtfully crafted socks for every lifestyle and need. From everyday essentials to premium styles, our product range spans across categories including men's, women's, kids', and specialty socks.

Using carefully selected materials like cotton, wool, and bamboo, we focus on comfort, durability, and performance. Our products are engineered to deliver long-lasting wear while maintaining style and functionality.

With complete control over our manufacturing process, we ensure consistency, scalability, and high-quality standards across every product we create.

EXPERTISE

Ormek's expertise lies in the depth of its process where material understanding, technical precision, and category-specific design come together seamlessly.

From selecting purpose-driven yarn like breathable bamboo, insulating wool, and durable cotton blends to engineering socks for distinct uses everyday wear, active performance, formal settings, and infant care we approach each product with functional intent.

Our strength is in translating real-world usage into design decisions: ensuring the right stretch, structure, softness, and durability for each category.

Supported by a controlled manufacturing environment and a nuanced understanding of scale, we consistently deliver products that meet both aesthetic and performance expectations making expertise not just something we claim, but something built into every detail.
